We build bridges between the realms of traditional Western medicine and rituals, psychotherapy and meditation, sexual sciences and love lives. In our unique seminar style these elements are integrated into a new synthesis. Hence even participants with an extensive background of psychotherapy or tantra can discover and make valuable new steps.

“[The growing affection between two lovers is, in fact, already the will to live of the new individual which they can conceive.”]

Arthur Schopenhauer

We create and ensure an atmosphere which respects the individual being with their boundaries and in which the participants have the opportunity to experience how patterns – which are disruptive to a relationship – may come about in the various stages of sexual development as well as how they can be healed.

We convey a most concise body of knowledge about sexuality which can not be found in any textbook so far.

We offer a new kind of sexual education for adults. It can be experienced on a bodily level, and provides men, women and parents with a well-founded body of knowledge about an individual’s natural psychosexual development. It thus benefits the children of the next generation as well.

Frequent feedback from participants

Gentle encouragement, high level of integrity, professional, well-founded, personally present, deepens and improves the quality of relationship and sexuality; easy integration and realistic success in daily life; have gained more confidence on the job, their humorous and light hearted attitude combine beautifully with their professional seriousness; they live what they teach; this work opens access to the mysteries of life.

Steps of maturational development towards a fulfilled sense of sexual love, based on SGT® and rituals

Sexual Grounding® Therapy (SGT), developed by Willem Poppeliers, is an innovative approach to a systemic and body oriented sexual therapy founded on depth psychology. It hence provides an important core aspect which has been missing in current psychotherapeutic methods and tantric schools so far.

Our experience has shown that this work supports the ability to deal with crucial life topics on a day-to-day and sustainable basis, i.e. especially one’s own capability of loving and relating sexually and parenting children as natural sexual beings.

This training integrates new results of brain research on optimal experiential learning for adults.

The participants experience how the history of their own sexual development is healed by re-enacting it – beyond taboos or over-sexualisation.

Having experiences we missed out on re-parented by “good parents” enables us to live fulfilling relationships as self-regulated adults. We directly work with sexuality in liberating clarity and naturalness.

We think, eat and chat naturally – and are able to sexually mature, love consciously and age vitally with the same degree of naturalness and vitality. Being sexually rooted and able to love requires the acknowledgement of our connections to the ancestors, parents, siblings, partners, children and other progeny.

We consider this part of everyday spirituality. At the same time we look to the future – life has a specific task in store for us at every stage of our sexual development. We look from the future to our lives today – the view from the death bed makes clear what is truly important.

Every age has a specific pleasure, spirit and sensuality.

The Stages of Sexual Maturation from Childhood into Old Age

- The significance of the parent-child-relationship in childhood and how it impacts our capability of loving our partners
- Puberty: The threshold to adolescence, learning to self-regulate
- The freedom of choosing to be in a relationship
- Living the relationship without putting a third element in between (be it an affair, the computer, or the children)
- Being able to stay in a relationship, feeling free in it and harvesting the fruits.
- Developing inner balance: from the polarity of man and woman to harmonisation as a couple in the partnership and on to transformation (the ability of unifying the masculine and feminine aspects in oneself)
- The parents die, the children have grown up: Sexual power and love energy as the gateway to the ancestors
- The autumn of life: Loving encounter and sexuality in old age – how the grandchildren benefit, giving your energy to the whole, aging with vitality, dying with a sense of fulfilment.
- We combine Sexual Grounding with powerful rituals, solution-oriented clarification of relationship issues, role plays, a special form of systemic constellation work, various body exercises, the essence of tantric energy work and shamanic elements.

Feminine Power and Surrender

for women

Netburga Fischer and team

There are topics in our lives for which we need mainly the support of other women, in order to follow a new path towards being fulfilled and content as women.

Every woman as a sexual being carries in herself the potential of being a magnetic field of attraction for what she wants to manifest in life.

Re-connecting with our female ancestor line is a source of feminine womb power from which we source the energy for our lives as mothers, lovers and professional women. How can I benefit from the power of my female ancestors for my vision of my life and my relationship?

During these days together we experience the essential life cycles of our being women and our sexual being as the magnetic power of attraction. We can thus make our visions come true in the reality of our lives. The feminine power of surrender constitutes an invitation for the man to actively involve himself in the relationship. This workshop brings together all those women who want to be in touch with their power and their capability of surrender.

Menopause – gaining a new fertility

Notburga Fischer

Our female uterus as an empty space for creation will be in the center of these days.

What did I give birth to? Which projects, life tasks I can let go? What are matters of the heart I am pregnant with? What kind of support is needed to let my core visions manifest in life?

We invite all women short before, during or after menopause who want to reconnect with this transformative power of creation and take their place as wise women in dignity.
